

CLINICAL SUPERVISION

"It takes a village to raise up and mature a leader. It takes a true leader to preserve and protect the village."

- Octavia Brown, LCSW-C

WHAT IS SUPERVISION?

As social workers whom have dedicated their lives to serving BIPOC, having the right professional support team is essential to our effectiveness and success in guiding our clients on their healing journey.

One of the most important members of your professional support team is your clinical supervisor.

At UIMH, we specialize in training and teaching clinicians how to render effective, culturally competent, and trauma-informed mental health services.

We also provide guidance and mentorship for social workers whom are interested in political social work and community practice.

WHAT TO EXPECT

You can expect to receive training, guidance, and mentorship in the following areas:

- Ethics and Legal Obligations
- Documentation and Compliance
- Systemic Racism and Racial Trauma
- Treatment Modalities
- Appropriately Assessing and Diagnosing BIPOC
- Case Consultation
- Career Guidance, Exploration, and Coaching
- Macro/Political Social Work
- Mezzo/Community Social Work
